

my website's mockup

week-2 assignment

Introduction:

The project I decided to work on is my very own website. As an aspiring web developer my own website will enable to showcase my skills and creativity and will also help me show my work to the outer world.

So first on the websites landing page there will be less content and a nice pleasant picture to please the viewers of my website. Then there will be a portfolio section where I will be showcasing my works.

Then a small section to know more about me and my passion towards web development

Then a section where u could contact me.

User Design and Prototype:

Landing page:

The mockup of my webpage is given in the next page

I chose to put less content in the first section because I didn't want to hit the users who view my website with a lot of content

I want to put a nice pleasant background image so that the users are comfortable

As we say "The First Impression is the Best Impression" I want to make the landing page as attractive as possible so that they can know about my tastes.

Portfolio:

The portfolio section of my website should not be overwhelming to the user who sees the website.

It will be of six squares. And when hovered on each of the square the title of the project will come up and when the square is clicked the user will be taken to another page where the user can read more about the projects.

Contact Me:

The contact me section will enable the users to come to me if they are impressed by my work or If they have any doubts

It will generally be a form and user has to fill in the form and press a button to submit the details

Navigation Structure:

In first phase only first page is available. In second phase I want to add the portfolio pages , I need to figure out if it would be better in the same page rather than duplicating it into many portfolio pages.
